

The bike that listens to your mobile phone

Call a Bike – a brilliant idea!

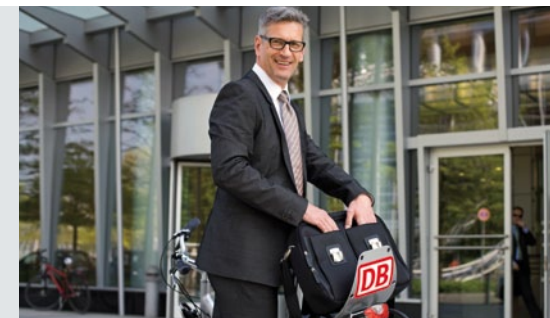

Like all good ideas, Call a Bike is based on a really simple principle: the right solution at the right time and at the right place. In this case, the right place is the railway station where you have just arrived. Or maybe a museum, shopping mall, office block, trendy bar ... the possibilities are endless ...

Switch over to Call a Bike – and reap triple benefits

Business travellers can avoid time-consuming traffic jams and save taxi costs at the same time. Tourists can relax and explore the city at their own pace and take a break wherever they want – without the bother of finding a parking space. Or you can simply integrate a CallBike in your day-to-day life: use a rented bike in your home town to keep fit and promote environment-friendly mobility.

Available in cities throughout Germany

Whether Berlin, Frankfurt am Main, Karlsruhe, Cologne, Munich, Stuttgart or at one of the numerous ICE stations – wherever you see one of our bikes, all you have to do is make a quick phone call and off you go.

Call a Bike – a simple system

As soon as you have registered as a customer either at www.callabike.de, at a terminal or via mobile phone app the city belongs to you. The good thing about our bikes is that they are comfortable, well-maintained, easy to ride and are guaranteed fun for all users – even if you have never won the Tour de France.

All you need is a mobile phone ...

When you see a CallBike you wish to use, call the telephone number in the red box on the cover of the CallBike lock and confirm that you wish to rent the bike. Open the cover of the lock, touch the display and follow the instructions. The lock will be released and you can set off. If you wish to take a break, you can use the bolt to secure the bike. The opening code you were given remains valid.

Finished your cycle tour?

Park the bike at the nearest major road intersection and use the bolt to lock it. In Berlin, Frankfurt, Stuttgart and at ICE stations, bikes can only be collected from and returned to the rental stations. To lock the bike, press the button to the right of the lock. Read the receipt code shown on the display, phone the number on the lock cover again and follow the instructions. In Berlin, Frankfurt, Karlsruhe and Stuttgart you do not receive a receipt code or have to phone to return the bike.

Extra benefits for BahnCard and bahn.bonus customers

BahnCard holders receive 1 bahn.bonus point for each EUR 1 sales with Call a Bike. Bonus points can be redeemed for a credit in your Call a Bike account: customers are entitled to a credit of EUR 9 for 750 bahn.bonus points.

Call a Bike – the smart option

Using Call a Bike is faster than walking, cheaper than a taxi and more flexible than driving. What's more, you also save unnecessary carbon emissions. And talking of saving – another good thing about Call a Bike is that this modern form of urban mobility is available at highly attractive rates.

Call a Bike offers a choice of two different pricing systems:

With the basic rate you pay a low price per minute and a maximum of 15 Euros per day. The flat rate is the perfect choice if you use Call a Bike frequently. You pay an affordable annual fee and the 30 first minutes of each trip are always free of charge.

Whichever rate you choose, cycling is the ecological and economical option.

	Without BahnCard	With BahnCard	Students
> Basic rate
per Minute	0.08 Euro	0.08 Euro	0.08 Euro
max. per day (24 h)	15.00 Euro	9.00 Euro	9.00 Euro
> Flat rate

as from 31st minute	0.08 Euro	0.08 Euro	0.08 Euro
max. per day (24 h)	15.00 Euro	9.00 Euro	9.00 Euro

In Stuttgart, the first 30 minutes are free for all customers.

Call a Bike customers can also use StadtRAD Hamburg bikes and Konrad Kassel bikes without having to register again.
